

Are Christianity and Science compatible?

Videos:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=YSRFba_Zh2w 13:10 to 14:10 for John Lennox

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=CmeSw6KVweU> 10:17 to 14:06 for Francis Collins

1. What mistake did the Roman Catholic Church make in Galileo's case? (see Ps. 104:5; Eccl. 1:5). In your opinion, is this a mistake many Christians make today
2. In which ways are Christianity and Science answering differing questions? How does John Lennox's cake story illustrate this?
3. Steve claimed that the big problem between Science and Christianity is when some Christians and some scientists claim too much. What examples did he give?
4. What is your understanding of micro-evolution and macro-evolution?
5. Does the Genesis story of Creation embarrass you? Why or why not? In which ways do Christians differ in their interpretation of the early chapters of Genesis?
6. What point was Steve making when he claimed that poetic language can be true without it being literally true? In which way might this apply to the Genesis account of creation?